

The diagram shows a hexagonal cross-section of a cable. It features a central core with a '+' sign, surrounded by five concentric circles. The entire assembly is enclosed within a hexagonal outer boundary. A vertical line passes through the center, and a horizontal line passes through the center, intersecting at the core.